

The Daily Courant.

Monday, December 1. 1718.

London, December 1.

On Saturday arriv'd a Mail from Holland.

From the Leiden Gazette, dated Dec. 6.

Constantinople, October 25.

ON the 11th of this Month, the Count de Collyers, Ambassadour Extraord<sup>y</sup> of their High Mightinesses the States General, arriv'd at Pera, one of our Suburbs, (where all the Foreign Ministers make their usual Residence) being return'd from the Congress of Passarowitz, and last from Adrianople; all the Merchants of that Nation went out to meet him a League from the Town, and gave him a most splendid Collation. His Excellency made his Entry into Pera in the following Manner. 1. The Standards of the States and the Prince. 2. Five Hautbois. 3. The Steward and Subaltern Officers of his Excellency. 4. His Master of the Horse, and five Led Horses. 5. The Droghermans. 6. The Ambassadour on Horseback, having 12 of his Footmen walking by him. 7. His Secretaries, his Gentlemen, and Merchants of his Nation, two and two. 8. About 30 of his Domesticks also on Horseback. And 9. Three of his Excellency's Coaches, drawn by six Horses each. The Crowd to see this Entry was very great, and all the Windows of the Houses were fill'd with Spectators.

Madrid, Nov. 12. On the 4th Instant, Cardinal Alberoni return'd hither from the Escurial, and the next Day follow'd the Court to the Pardo, where he still remains. On the 6th in the Evening, the Duke de St. Aignan returned from the Pardo, where he hath had his Audience of Leave of the King, with Intention to follow the Marquis de Nancré, who departed from this City the 1st Instant to return to Paris; and Colonel Stanhope is preparing to depart the 15th of this Month, to return to England. Two Deputies from the Province of Guipulcoa, are lately arrived here, to inform the Court that a great Number of the Inhabitants of that Country have taken Arms, demanding Satisfaction upon their Grievances, without having however committed any Hostilities. These Deputies wait for Leave to make their Remonstrances to his Majesty, when he pleases to admit them. The Cavalry, who were sent to reduce the Biscayners, have pass'd the Ebro at Miranda; but they halt at Misa till the Infantry, who were embark'd upon the Coast of Galicia, are arriv'd at Castro Urdiales. These Troops will then enter by divers Places into Biscay; and there is no doubt that they will force the Biscayners, who have taken Arms to submit; the rather, because 'tis known they are ill arm'd, and are not experienc'd enough to make Head against the King's Troops. Don Fernando Chacon, who was releas'd upon his Parole of Honour by Admiral Byng, is fallen sick on his Journey hither. They are hard at Work in equipping Privateers in several of our Ports, and among the rest, one at St. Sebastian, that will be commanded by an Irishman, to cruise against the English Ships.

From the Amst. Gazette, dated Dec. 6.

Madrid, Nov. 14. Colonel Stanhope, Envoy Extraordinary of his Britannick Majesty, has had his Audience of Leave of the King and all the Court, and is preparing to depart two Days hence. Cardinal Alberoni made him a Visit, and express'd to him that he was very sorry to see him go away; declaring that he had made all his Efforts to his Majesty to induce him to come into the Quadruple Alliance, but that he had answer'd his Honour did not permit him. This Prelate gave him also to understand, that the principal Article the King excepted against in the Treaty, was the Feudal Right of Tuscany and the Duchies of Parma and Placentia.

From the Amst. Courant, dated Dec. 6.

Vienna, Nov. 23. Great Sums of Money have been remitted of late to Italy, and 300000 Florins to Holland. The Departure of Prince Eugene for the Netherlands is still very uncertain, and many believe it will not be till Spring. 'Tis confirm'd from Italy, that Part of the 8000 Men imbarc'd at Genoa, are arriv'd at Melazzo, and the rest were daily expected. There are to be transported thither the Regiments of Old Hanover, Onolzbach, and Roma, who are marching from Naples.

From the Amst. and Leid. Gazettes, dated Dec. 6. Paris, Nov. 28. The Marquis de Nancré arriv'd here on the 25th in the Evening from Madrid, and went immediately to the Palais Royal, where he had the Honour to wait upon M. the Duke Regent, and give him an Account of his Negotiations. The Duke de St. Aignan, Ambassadour of France at the Spanish Court, is also suddenly expected: But altho' this be the current Report, 'tis by some affirm'd, that he will tarry there some Time longer. Abundance of young Lords express an earnest Desire to serve next Spring in the Armies that are to be assembled upon the Frontiers of Spain, in case there be Occasion to make War on that Side.

Hague, Dec. 6. The Sieur Ham, Secretary of their Majesty at the Court of Madrid, writ to the Court of Amst. a Memorial.

IN this Memorial, his Majesty constantly entertains Desires and Sentiments for the Tranquility of Europe, and contributes on his Part all the possible Means that consist with his Honour and Royal Dignity, for establishing a just Equilibrium between the respective Potentates, for securing the Liberty and Tranquility of Italy. He approves the Discourse which the Marquis de Beretti Landi, his Ambassadour in Holland, has made to the States General. And his Majesty is ready to concur, and generously give his Hand, to all the good Offices which may agree with the Circumstances express'd in the said Discourse.

But in case the States General give themselves up to the Instances and Sollicitations of the Potentates, who have form'd the Project of engaging them into the Quadruple Alliance; or if they conform to the Tenor thereof, in coming in to the Conditions of that Project; his Catholick Majesty will not abide by what he has offer'd them, which is what he shall otherwise accept with Pleasure, The Mediation of the Republick. Neither will it consist with his Majesty's Dignity to admit the Ambassadour whom Holland had design'd for the Court of Spain. These Steps being incompatible and opposite to one another, and contrary to the Interest and Desires of his Majesty, to preserve the perfect Union and Amity with the Republick.
